Our Reach

TodayTesting is the definitive resource for online entrepreneurship and digital product creation, uniting a thriving community of creators, mentors, and business visionaries from around the world.

Our readers are deeply engaged and eager to act. They rely on TodayTesting's expert guidance and tools reviews to help them monetize their knowledge—whether through online courses, membership communities, or coaching programs.

About Today Testing

Who We are

TodayTesting is the go-to resource for creators and entrepreneurs who want to turn their knowledge into a thriving online business. Our expert team publishes unbiased software reviews and step-by-step guides to help at every stage—from building your product offering to marketing it effectively.

Our Mission

Millions of creators dream of monetizing their knowledge, but many fail from a lack of the right tools, resources, and strategies. At TodayTesting, we bridge that gap by equipping creators with practical insights and tested solutions so they can transform their passions into profitable digital ventures.

Our Editorial Standards

Integrity and hands-on expertise guide everything we do. Our writing team comprises industry professionals who have launched successful online courses and digital products, ensuring advice that's both credible and practical. Before recommending a tool or product, we rigorously test it ourselves. We also form partnerships selectively, maintaining our readers' trust through transparent, high-quality content. You can learn more about our editorial standards on our website.

Our Audience

From content creators to membership site hosts, our readers need trusted, in-depth information on software, platforms, and proven strategies to succeed. They invest in tools that make their online businesses more effective and profitable—exactly the audience you want to reach.
